ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

The ice in Black creek at Sheldon is only eight inches in thickness. One year ago it was 25 inches thick when harvested.

Philip H. Deligan of Swanton fell about ten feet from a pile of lumber in the yard of George Webster & Sons, Saturday, fracturing one hip and receiving other injuries. He was attended by Dr. C. E. Allen.

A dead deer weighing 20 pounds was found on Brattleboro Retreat, Grounds Sunday. It is believed the deer was not shot but died from injuries received in a barbed wire fence. It is known that a deer has been chased by dogs on the retreat grounds within a few days.

Fire Marshal J. C. Dunn of Rutland made 114 inspections in 1905 to ascertain how the laws relating to precaution against fire were being carried out in Rutland. In his annual report he states that the city made some improvement over 1904, but he found that people would persist in dumping ashes, etc., in wooden receptacles and near wooden buildings which is against the city ordinance. He recommended in his report that the city have teams of its own to gather all such rubbish twice or three times a week and that tenants should be furnished with iron receptacles in which to dump their rubbish.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

A report of the investigation of coal deposits on the military reservation on Batan Island, Philippine Islands, made by Lieut. H. L. Wigmore of the Engineer Corps, has been received at the War Department. In summing up Lieut. Wigmore says there are two distinct sets of coal measures, one of which, as timing conservatively, at least six feet of workable coal in two seams will be found, and in the other at least ten feet, also in two seams. He says there is no reasonable doubt of the continuity of the coal seams, and that the data at present shows the probable course of both these coal measures to be across and under the coal claims on which the Government has an option, and continuing to the end of the reservation. Lieut. Wigmore says the Batan coal is eminently suited for steaming purposes and is generally superior to that now used in the Philippine Islands, and if produced at $4.25 or less per ton is actually cheaper than Japanese coal. In speaking of the practicality of mining, he says that coal mining at that point not only is practicable, but that a combination of conditions favorable to economical mining such as exists there will rarely be found. Among other advantages he mentions the availability of timber, coal of labor, water, drainage facilities, thickness of seam and ease of entry.—Washington Star.

Peter Smith, of South Manchester, lays claim to the championship egg-laying hens in town, and does not even stop at that. Commencing Jan. 1, he started to keep a record of the number of eggs laid by his twenty-nine hens. The number was surprising, as the price of eggs was then soaring around 45 cents a dozen mark. Sunday evening he tallied up and found that he had collected 147 eggs in a week, or an average of five and two twenty-ninths to a hen.—Hartford Courant.

Lumber Camp Cooking.

Novel experience was that of a well-known Bowdoin man, who was a recent guest of Silver Lake Plantation, where he was called on business. "I drove ten miles on the main road and five miles into the lumber camp," said this gentleman in relating his experiences. "I got there at 4 in the afternoon, attended to the business and started to return. I had come but a little distance when the fogs took me and the car was wrecked. I patched it up as well as I could and made my way back to camp. The men were willing to help me, and insisted that I stay to supper. It was all new to me, the camp in the woods, and the good cooking that I found. Raised biscuit, the best I ever tasted; corned beef, cabbage and potatoes, butternut in tin dippers with long iron handles like spider-handles; we ate from tin dishes altogether and sat on soap boxes. There was not a chair in the camp. That was a good supper, and everything was so good! The cook understood his business all right. I think, when a man is three weeks away from the women all out. After supper the men fixed my harness and I left the camp. There were many French in camp, and they were all most hospitable people. It was thick weather when I went back, so I dared not ride, but led the horse the four miles that led to the main road. I got back to Sherman village at 10 o'clock. It was a new experience to me, that lumber camp, and was worth all the long ride and the breakdown beside."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Quaint Epitaphs.

A desperate attempt at an epitaph in the Non-conformist "Campo Santo" in Bunhill Fields, where Bunyan, Deane, the Cromwells and Mrs. Wesley lie buried, is found on the tomb of Lady Page a person who seems to have suffered terribly from what we call "dropsy," but which might have had another name in those days: "Here lies Dame Mary Page, Relict of Sir Gregory Page (Bar.), She departed this life March 11th, 1738, In the 50th year of her age."

In 67 months she was tapped 66 times. Had taken away 240 gallons of water. Without ever repining at her case, Or ever fearing the operation."

A more successful attempt is that found on the tomb of Vavasor Powell, who seems to have suffered eleven years' imprisonment for preaching the Gospel. He was known as the "Whitfield of Wales": "In vain oppressors do themselves perplex To find out arts how they the saints may vex; Death smote their plots and sets the oppressed free. Thus Vavasor obtained true liberty. Christ him released and now he's joined among The Martyred Souls, with whom he cries, 'How long!'"—Chambers' Journal.

Misapprehension.

Will A. Dover, an attorney of San Andreas, who is at the Lick for a few days, tells a story of a waitress who once worked in a hotel in his town. "One of this waitress' ideas," said he, "was that Dover, 'was that

If there is the slightest doubt in the mind of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time. It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide. Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide. Accept no substitute. "Destroy the germ you remove the effect." a breakfast should be cooked medium—or 'meemum' as she called it. Whenever a guest ordered a steak she inquired if it should be cooked 'meemum.' One day an Italian, whose knowledge of English was rather limited, dropped in for dinner, and in response to her recital of the will of fare said, 'bistek!'

"Meemum" inquired the waitress. "No!" exclaimed the Italian, indignant that his English was not understood, 'bistek!'"—San Francisco Chronicle.
